

In Triana Sci & Tech we have done a complete redesign of our website with the aim of offering a more current, practical, useful and ideal environment in which offer the best service to our users and customers.

This new version includes many new features and enhancements in design and navigation, content and technology that are summarized in:

- User-oriented Design: the useful space is adapted to the width of your screen, it reinforces the use of icons, graphics and illustrations and offer a new provision of information to facilitate the consultation of the contents swiftly and smoothly.
- Simplified navigation: the structure of the sections evolves to facilitate an easier access to the most common sections.
- Practical content and participation: we have strengthened the current contents in which we invite you to participate actively.
- New technology: we incorporate the latest technology to deliver better performance of the Web to the growing number of users accessing our information and services.
